Logistics Executive Group launches “Talent Scout” service

Dubai, UAE - Logistics Executive Group’s business in the Middle East & Africa has evolved rapidly over the last 10 years servicing the market through its Logistics Academy, Executive Search and suite of Corporate Advisory services.

Firmly established as the Retained Executive Search experts for the end to end Supply Chain the MEA Regional office has responded to current market demands with the introduction of their latest service offering.

The “Talent Scout” service is a rapid response talent acquisition offering which provides employers access to Logistics Executive Group’s specialist knowledge and networks.

This service is designed for situations where hiring organizations may require additional candidate profiles for an ongoing search, urgently need to hire a qualified person to commence work quickly due to an unexpected vacancy, or where the seniority level or specialism of a vacancy does not warrant investment in a fully Retained Executive Search.

Brian Cartwright, Managing Director Logistics Executive Middle East & Africa said;

“We have introduced the Talent Scout service in the MEA region to cater for the high demand mid level supply chain employment market. It’s basically our express talent acquisition service offering”.

“As the needs of supply chain and related organisations in the region have evolved we have continuously sought to meet changing requirements and provide solutions for the markets we serve”.
